

(FEBRUARY 19 – MARCH 20)

Traits and Characteristics

Pisces is the most complicated sign in the entire zodiac system. Its dual nature pulls the person in two different directions. As a consequence, he or she never understands what they should do. Due to this mental confusion, a Piscean mostly thinks that everything around him is wrong, but can never analyze WHY it is wrong, or what's causing it. They are very emotional and easily influenced by others. As soon as they enter a room, they come to know what is happening there. But, because they can be so easily influenced, it is necessary to only come in contact with the right people; otherwise they tend to imitate others and may even start thinking as they do.

Pisceans are very sentimental, and their emotions and feelings play an important role in reacting to people and situations. Due to their extra-sensory knowledge, they unreasonably fall in love or hold grudges for any reason. They are very illogical in doing so. They are over filled with sympathy and cannot perform any work which may harm others. When Pisceans find somebody in difficulty, despair, or afflicted by disease, they feel like running to help them but they don't understand how to. Due to this nature of Pisceans, some people try to take an unfair advantage of them.

Their imagination power is well developed since they are idealistic and often try to escape from the bitter realities of life and become engrossed in a fantasy world. This is the reason why many great poets, writers, and musicians were Pisceans. But... what is the use of those imaginations which cannot be utilized in worldly affairs? This is why Pisceans stay behind others and fail to bring themselves into the limelight. They lose hope even with little opposition. Their entire personality is negative. Their nature is not stable and changes every moment, depending on their mood.
