

≈ AQUARIUS

(JANUARY 20 – FEBRUARY 18)

Traits and Characteristics

Among all twelve signs in the zodiac system, Aquarius is the most humane sign. It is filled with humane qualities, and those born under this constellation are very much sincere towards their life's ambitions. They are not boasters; they have comprehensive knowledge and are filled with mental courage and compassion.

The seeds of highly developed humanity are hidden within the sign Aquarius, yet today's society is not capable of understanding its effect. Therefore, many qualities of the Aquarian go unnoticed. A basic nature of Aquarius that is very noticeable, however, is their ability to build friendships, which typically become long-lasting. Their number of friends never gets reduced, but at the same time, there is a sort of renunciation in the nature of Aquarius.

Aquarians have strong will-power and a determined opinion in every regard. They do not easily accept others' opinion and are fixed to their own views. They face adverse situations with balance and seriousness before making any decision. First, they try to understand the problem completely, and unless or until a choice is inevitable, they do not make any decision instantaneously. Their point of view is that of a discoverer or scientist.

The ruling planet of Aquarius, Uranus, makes the Aquarian very secretive. Sometimes there is such an unexpected or sudden change that takes place in an Aquarian that he himself is taken aback by. Aquarius is a sign of improvement, therefore Aquarians believe in new ideas, values, quick results, and ideas different from old customs and tradition.
